Report of Independent Auditor

To the Audit Committee
Georgia Tech Global, Inc.
Atlanta, Georgia

Opinion

We have audited the accompanying financial statements of the business-type activities and discretely presented component unit of Georgia Tech Global, Inc. (“GTGI”), a component unit of Georgia Institute of Technology, as of and for the year ended June 30, 2024, and the related notes to the financial statements, which collectively comprise GTGI’s basic financial statements as listed in the table of contents.

In our opinion, based on our audit and the report of the other auditor, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the respective financial position of the business-type activities and the discretely presented component unit of GTGI, as of June 30, 2024, and the respective changes in financial position and cash flows thereof for the year then ended in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States.

We did not audit the financial statements of the discretely presented component unit, which represent 96% and 74% of the total assets and net position as of June 30, 2024, respectively, and 71% of total revenues for the year then ended of the total business-type activities of GTGI. Those statements were audited by other auditors whose report has been furnished to us, and our opinion, insofar as it relates to the amounts included for the discretely presented component unit, is based solely on the report of the other auditors.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor’s Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements section of our report. We are required to be independent of GTGI, and to meet our other ethical responsibilities, in accordance with the relevant ethical requirements relating to our audit. We believe the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Responsibilities of Management for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States, and for the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, management is required to evaluate whether there are conditions or events, considered in the aggregate, which raise substantial doubt about GTGI’s ability to continue as a going concern for twelve months beyond the financial statement date, including any currently known information that may raise substantial doubt shortly thereafter.

Auditor’s Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor’s report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance but is not absolute assurance and, therefore, is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control. Misstatements are considered material if there is a substantial likelihood that, individually or in the aggregate, they would influence the judgment made by a reasonable user based on the financial statements.

In performing an audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, we:

- Exercise professional judgment and maintain professional scepticism throughout the audit.
- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, and design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks. Such procedures include examining, on a test basis, evidence regarding the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of GTGI's internal control. Accordingly, no such opinion is expressed.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluate the overall presentation of the financial statements.
- Conclude whether, in our judgment, there are conditions or events, considered in the aggregate, which raise substantial doubt about GTGI's ability to continue as a going concern for a reasonable period of time.

We are required to communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit, significant audit findings, and certain internal control related matters that we identified during the audit.

Required Supplementary Information

Accounting principles generally accepted in the United States require that the management's discussion and analysis on pages 3 and 4 be presented to supplement the basic financial statements. Such information is the responsibility of management and, although not a part of the basic financial statements, is required by the Governmental Accounting Standards Board who considers it to be an essential part of financial reporting for placing the basic financial statements in an appropriate operational, economic, or historical context. We have applied certain limited procedures to the required supplementary information in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, which consisted of inquiries of management about the methods of preparing the information and comparing the information for consistency with management's responses to our inquiries, the basic financial statements, and other knowledge we obtained during our audit of the basic financial statements. We do not express an opinion or provide any assurance on the information because the limited procedures do not provide us with sufficient evidence to express an opinion or provide any assurance.

MANAGEMENT'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

JUNE 30, 2024

Introduction

Georgia Tech Global, Inc. ("GTGI") was established September 25, 2009, as a not-for-profit corporation affiliated with the Georgia Institute of Technology ("GIT"), a component unit of the University System of the state of Georgia. GTGI was established for the purpose of engaging in charitable, scientific, literary, and educational purposes and to receive, hold, invest, and administer property and to make expenditures to, or for the benefit of, GIT and to support the international activities and initiatives of GIT. In 2009, GTGI entered into a Memorandum of Understanding with GIT designating GTGI as a Cooperative Organization (Cooperative Agreement). GTGI serves as the contracting entity for certain international activities and initiatives of GIT.

Description of the Financial Statements

The statements of net position; revenues, expenses, and changes in net position; and cash flows are designed to provide information that will assist in understanding the financial condition and performance of GTGI. The net position is an indicator of GTGI's financial health. Over time, increases or decreases in net position are another measure of the changes in GTGI's financial condition when considered with other non-financial facts.

The statement of net position presents the assets, liabilities, and net position of GTGI.

The statement of revenues, expenses, and changes in net position presents the revenues earned and the expenses incurred during the year. Activities are reported as either operating or nonoperating. The financial reporting model classifies investment earnings and changes in the fair value of investments as nonoperating revenues. As a result, the financial statements may show operating losses that are then offset by nonoperating revenues from a total financial perspective.

The statement of cash flows presents information in the form of cash inflows and outflows summarized by operating and capital and related financing activities.

Current liabilities increased by $13,671 from $1,526 from fiscal 2023, due to the timing of payment of outstanding accounts payables at year-end for fiscal 2024.

Net position represents the difference between GTGI's assets and liabilities. There was an decrease of $3,551 or approximately -5.8% in net position from fiscal 2023, which was attributable to GTGI generating a net operating loss for fiscal 2024.

The condensed statements of revenues, expenses, and changes in net position for the years ended June 30, 2024 and 2023 are shown below:

	Years Ended June 30,
	2024	2023
Operating revenues	$ 477,232	$ 118,232
Operating expenses	480,783	97,191

Net position, beginning of year	60,937	39,896
Net position, end of year	$ 57,386	$ 60,937

Operating revenues consist primarily of contributions and contributed services. During the fiscal year ended June 30, 2024, operating revenue increased by $359,000, or approximately 303.6% from fiscal 2023, primarily due to operating support received from Georgia Tech Research Corporation to support an international affiliated organization that was not received in fiscal 2023. Operating expenses increased $383,592 or approximately 394.7% from fiscal 2023, primarily due to an increase in operating support provided to Institute Lafayette from funding received from Georgia Tech Research Corporation.

Economic Outlook

GTGI's mission is to support the international activities and initiatives of GIT. In support of this mission, GTGI receives contributions from affiliated organizations and distributes the funds to support international affiliated organizations. Note 2—Summary of significant accounting policies (continued)

Accordingly, as GTGI is financially accountable for the Georgia Tech Panama Foundation, its financial statements are presented with the financial statements of GTGI as a discretely presented component unit. Georgia Tech Panama Foundation has a calendar year-end of December 31 and, therefore, amounts included in these financial statements are as of and for the year ended December 31, 2023. The financial statements of GT Panama Foundation are presented in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards for the Small and Medium sized Entities.

At June 30, 2024, the bank balance was fully insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

Capital Assets – Capital assets are recorded at cost net of accumulated depreciation. The straight-line method of depreciation is followed for all capital assets.

Unemployment Fund and Seniority Premium Payable – In accordance with the Labor Code of the Republic of Panama, employees with an indefinite labor contract are entitled, at the termination of the labor relationship, to a seniority premium equivalent to a week of salary for each year worked and computed from the beginning of the labor relationship. In addition, Law No.44 of 1995 establishes that companies must make contributions to an Unemployment Fund to cover the payments of employees' seniority premiums. These contributions are determined based on the compensation paid to employees. Also, in accordance with the Law No.51 of December 27, 2005, companies must make monthly contributions to the Caja de Seguro Social, based on a percentage of the total wages paid to their employees. A portion of these contributions is used by the Panamanian government for the payment of the future retirements of the employees.
